

Volv is recruiting

Volv is a news app that gives you what's important and what's cool in 9-second reads. No BS. No bias.

We're looking for curious, worldly, socially-driven individuals who are willing to learn and hustle.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

Spread the word

Post on social media.
Keep it organic.

For example, you could post a screenshot of an article, comment on the article, and then subtly say something about the app as an FYI.

Talk about it with people you meet

Your friends, class group project members, student organizations, family members, neighbours, workout friends, hairdressers, religious groups, etc

Email your classmates & professors

Be a part of the process

As the main point of contact between the users and the HQ, your input matters.

Once you get people to sign up, observe their reaction to the app

Are they facing a problem with any page, what do they find interesting, did they mention something along the lines like "it would be cool if it could..." ?

Relay these comments back to us along with your recommendations and see your input being implemented in the app

Evolve yourself

Channel your passion and develop your skills by getting real experience.

What you learn in the classroom is very different from what you can actually put into practice.

So, if you would like to dabble in other areas, for example, content writing, taking charge of Twitter, etc, we would be open to it.

YOUR REWARDS

 More sign ups means more chances to win rewards every month

Rewards include Fitbit, Amazon Echo, etc

 Access to the Volv community

The founders, the tech-guys, and the writers - so you can ask us any questions.

 Get on the fast-track to join Volv as an intern/full-time employee.

 Get a letter of recommendation

 Expand your resume, learn new skills, and gain professional experience on your own time.

Recruiters always look out for quantifiable accomplishments such as your ability to increase a product's customer base

How do we stay in touch?

This is a work-from-home position.

You will also be added to a private Slack group with the founders and other Brand Ambassadors so that you can connect with other like-minded hustlers, share tips and learn from each other.

Will I be the only Brand Ambassador on campus?

No, we will recruit multiple people on each campus.

If you do happen to be the first, you can help us recruit more brand ambassadors.

If we do select someone you recommended, you will be rewarded with gift cards.